AMERICAN CAN CO. TO SUBSCRIBE TO THE LOCAL BONDS

The Utah National bank, through its president, W. L. Wattis, this afternoon received a telegram from R. H. Lamon, treasurer of the American Can company, in New York, assuring the local bank of the company's support in the Liberty loan. SEVEN DOUBLE-DECK CARS OF SHEEP SHIPPED

Seven double deck cars of sheep were shipped today to the stockyards at Omaha from Huntsville. The sheep are owned by the Lindsay Land & Livestock Co., and have been ranging during the summer in the hills east of Ogden Valley. The sheep were originally consigned to Kansas City but this had to be changed as the immense fire at the Kansas City stockyards a few days ago destroyed the pens.

Fifteen cars were shipped from Huntsville the early part of the week. Binn Bros. sent five cars to American Fork and the B. D. Field Co. of Salt Lake sent ten cars to Los Angeles.

THEATER TICKETS ARE TO COST MORE AFTER NOVEMBER 1

Starting with November 1, it will cost the public more for amusements and more for traveling than it does at the present time. On that date the war revenue act goes into effect. It provides that the public shall pay 10 per cent more for amusements than it does now. When one goes to a movie theater, it will cost him 11 cents. Pennies will come into use, to help Uncle Sam win the war.

While for the nominal prices of tickets the additional amount will not make a great difference, when one pays 20 cents more for a choice $2 seat it will make quite a difference.

The tax on railroad tickets is 3 per cent of the amount paid for the ticket. Then, when one gets on the train, he must either pay 10 per cent of the sum charged for his Pullman ticket, or sit up all night. A letter has been received by the local ticket offices stating that information as to the method of collecting this war tax will be forwarded before the time to start leveling the assessments.

Another interesting thing is the fact that unless outstanding bills against the railroads are not paid before November 1, a 3 per cent assessment will also be made against these bills and instructions have been issued urging all agents to do all in their power to see that bills are rendered to consignees so that they may be paid by October 31.

The treasury department provides that this tax shall apply to all freight bills paid on or after November 1, even though the shipments were delivered prior to that date.

CAMP LIFE PLEASES SOLDIER BOYS FROM OGDEN

"We sure have a fine place to train this winter," said Norman Hutchens, a private in Battery B, who came to The Standard office today at the request of Captain J. Ray Ward to tell Ogden people what he knows of the conditions under which the Ogden men will live this winter.

Private Hutchens came to Ogden to attend the funeral of his brother William, who was accidentally killed while working in a power plant of the Southern Pacific at Lemay, Utah. He will return tomorrow to Camp Kearny. He stated that the camp was far better than he had expected. He was in the front of the one they were in at Salt Lake. It has been built for comfort, as well as convenience and the boys are well pleased with their good fortune in being sent to such a delightful place for training.

The boys are all well and happy. Occasionally one has a mild attack of homesickness, but aside from that, they are as fine and healthy a bunch of soldiers as can be seen. So well were they, he said, that when they first marched into camp, people asked where the regulars came from. In their drills, in their personal appearance and in their general conduct, makes of Battery B have become an example for all the rest of the companies in camp.

"Camp Kearny is certainly a big place," Young Hutchens said. "There are 25,000 men there now and, from what I can see, there is room for that many more. All a fellow can see is tents, tents, with here and there an occasional frame building, used for headquarters or supply houses. It sure is a wonderful sight, and still more wonderful it is to see the men drilling."

"We have not received the guns, so we are going through the regular infantry drills," he understood the officers are studying gun tactics and it will not take us long to become efficient in that work. We are all impatient for the guns and when they arrive, you can bet we will get busy, because the sooner we get so we can handle the guns, the sooner we will get a chance at the Kaiser, and that is what we want."

"Battery B is filled to full war strength. There is not a vacancy, but I understand there are some places yet to be filled in some of the other batteries of the 15th."

Hutchens said that although the boys were being drilled pretty hard, they had plenty of fun. Wednesday and Saturday afternoons and all day Sunday the men are excused from drill and then the fun starts. Some of them hike over the country. Some of them engage in athletics and there are many other diversions. As the camp is eleven miles from San Diego, the only time most of them get out of camp is the day after payday, when carfare is to be had. But there is so much doing at the camp that that part of it troubles them very little.

"The Y. M. C. A. sure has done a lot for us," he said. "The association has everything you can think of in the way of amusements. Moving pictures every night, vaudeville, entertainments of all sorts and, when they can, they have some famous man to lecture. It is great, I can tell you. If it was not for the Y, I don't know what some of us would do. The association furnishes writing materials and supplies places for us to write. Then there are good books and magazines and the daily papers. In fact, it is a big part of the pleasing side of camp life. Last Thursday Billy Sunday spoke to and sang for us. He is some talker, too. It was interesting. Although the Y. M. C. A. building is only a small structure, there were 1,300 men inside to hear Sunday."

"They give us good food, and we eat out of real dishes, too, on real tables. It is much better than in Salt Lake. It seems so much more civilized. "Battery B has the best officers of any battery there, I think. They are simply great. The captain is the best ever and the men are ready to go wherever he may lead. So are the lieutenants. They are all well liked. Battery B is mighty well off, and our folks in Ogden don't need to worry one bit about us."

He said that everyone sent best regards to good old Ogden.

SMALL VOTE IS BEING CAST IN PRIMARY ELECTION

Reports from polling places throughout the city at an early hour this afternoon indicated that voting for the primary election has been very light. It is expected, however, that the lists will be increased considerably after 6 o'clock when the majority of working people cast their ballots.

At noon the complete report for the city placed the votes cast at 587. A check at 2:30 o'clock was incomplete because some of the districts could not be heard from, but scarcely 300 more votes had been cast.

Election canards were being circulated and one of the most persistent was that Frank Francis, candidate for mayor, is not a property owner. Mr. Francis has a home at the corner of Twentieth and Monroe, and has property in other parts of the city.

The polls will remain open until 7 o'clock this evening.

DOUG FAIRBANKS NOT TO ARRIVE UNTIL 5:50 P. M.

"Doug" Fairbanks will not be in Ogden today until 5:50 p. m. The train, the Los Angeles limited, was scheduled to arrive at 3:35, but the news that it will not be in until the later time comes as welcome news to many who would otherwise be unable to hear the favorite movie star talk in the interests of the Liberty loan. Many offices will be closed by the time he arrives and it is expected a large crowd will be in attendance at the depot, where it is arranged to have him speak.

While he will be here but a few minutes, in said by those who have heard "Doug" that he is as dynamic in his speech as in his actions.

A platform has been arranged in front of the depot, and from what is heard of Doug, if it doesn't suit him, he may climb to the top of the station and talk from there.

GOVERNMENT WANTS A CHECK UPON SUBSCRIPTIONS TO THE LIBERTY LOAN BONDS

The northern district of Utah, including Ogden and Weber county, has thus far contributed but $1,444,050 to the second liberty loan. This figure is away below the amount it should total at this time. James Pingree, chairman of the committee for the district, says active work is absolutely necessary for the remaining days of the campaign to assure the amount allotted. It is necessary that more money come in, and the banks and the small subscribers are being urged to extend themselves to their limits.

Most of the business concerns have subscribed large amounts generously but there is still a large number of individuals who have not done their bit and whose subscriptions are urgently needed.

This district has been allotted a minimum of approximately $2,000,000, so a glance will show how much work is needed to bring the amount near its minimum. The maximum allotted to this district is approximately $3,000,000.

Of the total of $1,444,050 in the northern district, $1,225,050 was subscribed in Ogden and Weber county, so the other counties of the northern district are quite low. A telephonic communication was received this morning from Cache county by James Pingree to the effect that $400,000 has been subscribed in that district.

Telegram to James Pingree were received today from the government urging a thorough check of the campaign thus far and a report of the total amount subscribed to the government. Mr. Pingree informed all of the banks of the government's orders and asked them to make a report to be presented as soon as possible. He also communicated with the managers of the northern district counties and gave them the same information. This report will enable the liberty loan organization to see just where this district stands.

Another message received by Mr. Pingree urged the bankers of Ogden to extend the use of their vaults for the safe keeping of liberty bonds for small subscribers among farmers and laboring men. Many people have hesitated to buy bonds because they have no safe place for keeping them. The banks, however, if they comply with the government's suggestion, will offer for their vaults for this purpose free of charge. Mr. Pingree stated that the Pingree National bank would extend this courtesy to any subscriber. He will also accept government bonds, he said, in payment of notes at the Pingree bank.
